Mr. Bare Takes Over As New Hill Principal

Many returning students were surprised to learn that this fall Andrew Hill High School had a new principal. This was due to the resignation of Mr. Don Campagna. Mr. William Bare was appointed principal of Andrew Hill. Mr. Bare, a graduate of Polytechnic High School in San Francisco and Saint Mary's College was very active in many of his school functions. He was the president of his senior class, Block "P" president and active in various sports, including football. Despite his carrying a heavy load of activities, Mr. Bare still managed to be in honor clubs and drama club for three years.

Principal. He was also planning principal for the new Silver Creek High School before coming here.

As Hill's new principal, Mr. Bare has no changes or alterations to make within the student activity program, at this time. He is well pleased with what he has seen at Hill so far, and states that he feels honored to be here.

Mr. Campagna Forced To Leave By Poor Health

After serving as principal for one semester, Mr. Don Campagna, who became Hill's principal last December, was forced to give up his position because of ill health. Mr. Campagna took this step on the advice of his doctor, and over the summer announced that he would step down as principal.

Currently, Mr. Campagna is at Ayer High School in his former capacity of assistant principal. He became principal at Hill after Mr. Henry Jackson left to take over the Educational Park Project.

Mr. Bare has been in the East Side district for 12 years, during which time he has had a distinguished and varied career. He was a history teacher at James Lick High School and also as a counselor. He then went to William C. Overfelt High School as Vice

New Teachers On Hill Campus

New faces have been appearing around the Andrew Hill High School campus. Most of these unfamiliar faces are due to the split with Oak Grove High School. Since many of our teachers have gone to Oak Grove, Hill was in need of replacements. Adding to our faculty are Miss Barbara Anderson, Mrs. Hall, and Mr. Roy Scialabba, Physical Education; Mr. Terrence Griffin, Math; Miss Nancy Ashford, Home Economics; Mr. Fouts, Science; Mr. Dwight Klassen, Business; Mr. Phinney and Mr. John Woodland, Social Studies. Mrs. Letita Jensen has returned from a sabbatical leave. The new counseling staff consists of Mrs. Battenberg, Mr. William Connolly, and

Time For Ulcers??

If one should ever venture into room 201 during fourth period, he would witness a very hectic scene. Editors and reporters are running around nervously, trying to meet a deadline. Advisor, Mr. Phil Grieves is climbing the walls as the hands on the clock keep moving and the pages are nowhere complete. Time is running short, page dummies are not made, and the Globe Printing will not wait all day for our paper.

Now it is 3:55, staff is getting tired and weary, five minutes are left before pick up time, and here we have it — the Andrew Hill Hilites is completed and ready for

English Honor Society Gains New Advisors

This year the English Honor Society has two new advisors, Mr. Phil Grieves, and Mr. Frank Galasso. Mrs. Betty Williams was a previous advisor. A meeting will be called in October. The main purpose of the English Honor Society is to bring together students with a grade of B or better in English, and to put together the traditional magazine, Ink and Feathers. In this magazine one can find poems, short stories, photographs, pen and ink sketches and Senior Wills. Awards are given for poetry, prose, fiction, photography, and sketches. Each year the magazine gets bigger and better, and this year's will hopefully follow the tradition.

Any student interested in writing for Ink and Feathers, contact Mr. Grieves in room 201 or Mr. Galasso in room 404.

Double Session Off to Good Start

The Hill and Oak Grove students have carried out double sessions very smoothly these first few weeks. Even though a half-day of school has caused some problems, the situation is not as bad as many of us imagined. Both student bodies have kept the campus very clean. Clubs have somehow managed to squeeze in meetings, despite the small amount of time available for them. School spirit appears as high as it was last year.

The double sessions have caused some problems, however. When Hill students start leaving for home, they run into Oak Grove students arriving for their classes. This has caused traffic jams in the halls, forced teachers to make the halls one-way routes, and posed problems for people going to their lockers.

Double sessions do not provide enough time for club meetings. Students at both schools have to wait longer to do business at the student store. Scheduling rallies and assemblies is still another problem forced upon us by the double sessions.

The Hill student body has shown how well it can meet this challenge. We strongly urge everyone to keep up the good work, not only during the two months of double sessions, but throughout the rest of the year.

PROJECT 360 ALLOWS INDEPENDENT STUDY

Almost everyone has heard of Project 360. But, how many really understand what it is?

According to Mr. William Gilmore, team co-ordinator, director, and science teacher for Project 360, "Project 360 works co-operatively to help students with learning problems, helps avoid duplication, and helps to involve English with all other subjects."

Project 360 was started in 1966 by picking half of the freshman class at random to be used in the teaching-learning experiment.

The students learn at their own speed. If they need more explanation on a subject, the teacher goes over it until the student understands. On the other hand, if a student picks things up easily, he goes to an independent study area where he can study as he likes.

The study courses include math, science, English, geography, and reading improvement. Students in Project 360 will have at their disposal carpeted and draped study areas. They are equipped with reading lounges, recording carrels, arm chair desks, and a checkout desk for any tapes or records the students may want to use.

The staff of Project 360 has acquired many new members, all of whom deserve a great amount of recognition. Working together as a team to present these courses to the students are Mr. William Gilmore, Director, and Mr. William

Landmarks Vanish

Have you noticed something missing from the 100 building? Most of the Hill student body know about the absence of the two abstract statues from the center of the building. We regret to say that Ernie and Gertrude have gone to that "great pedestal in the sky."

According to Mr. Philip Niederrhoff, the art students who designed and constructed the abstract pair were unable to finish their work before graduating last year. As a result of their neglect, the statue began to crumble and crack in many places. The janitor finally had to tear down the student masterpiece.

The center of the 100 building looks rather barren without Ernie and Gertrude. We suggest that another, better-built statue be put in this spot. We also suggest that whoever starts such a project completes it. The student body must not let another masterpiece go the way that Ernie and Gertrude did.

Math Anyone?

Are you having trouble with your present math course? Do you wish you had someone to help you with the problems? Well, now is the time for you to join the math club. One of the most important functions of the math club will be the tutoring of individual students by those who have already completed the course successfully and by those who are presently taking the class.

Senior Class Has Great Expectations

When the shy, frightened freshman first walks in the door of Andrew Hill High School what does he long for? The chance to get lost in the new surroundings? His first history report? His first semester final?

Not exactly. It's the rights and privileges he gains when he finally becomes a senior.

Senior? It's a rather fantastic word. Connect it with Senior lawn, Senior Ball, Senior picnic and Senior graduation; and there you have the class of 1968.

It may have been hard and tiring those past three years, but now 1967-68 brings a different outlook on education. Here we are, no longer underclassmen, but the head of the School.

A great deal of activities, rallies, and sales will be starting soon, so get with it seniors and support

Girls Deliver Spirit Posters

Spirit got off to a great start again this year. Signs, posters, cheers, and wishes of good luck ran high Thursday, September 21.

A number of girls made spirit posters and individual songs for the varsity football players to sing in the first game of the season.

The girls, who consisted of cheerleaders, letter girls, flag girls, and spirit leaders, met at 7 p.m. at Hill, and between then and 5 a.m. the girls were involved in painting signs and delivering the signs to varsity football players' fences, porches, garage doors, sidewalks, windows, and cars.

Among the hazards to be overcome were being caught in the act by someone they woke up, having to look at car registrations because of a wrong address, barking dogs, and "interested" neighbors.

The scene of the activity was Charlene West's barn which she donated for the occasion.

The pom-pom girls, led by Joan McGuire, also held a spirit meeting and made signs.

Attention Seniors

The time has come for all college-bound seniors to begin planning for college if you have not as yet.

The college bulletin, the requirements and other information can all be obtained from your counselor or by going to the library or simply writing to a college of your choice for the necessary information.

Seniors should also plan to take the ACT (American College Testing Program) college entrance examination, which is required for entry into most universities, for which you can sign up at your counselor's office. Registration deadlines are Nov. 8, Jan. 17, April 10, and July 3. Tests will be administered one month after the registration date at either Del Mar High School, San Jose City College, or San Jose State College.

There is a $4.50 fee for the test, but it is well worth it, and a necessary item.

Also, seniors should look into the possibility of obtaining a scholarship for college. This too can be clarified by your counselor.

See the light — Seniors, this is the year to see your counselor.

Space for One More?

Have you noticed lately that when you open your locker, everything falls out? The double session at Andrew Hill has caused quite a locker problem. The number of students to a locker is three or four, which is very crowded. Most of the students of Andrew Hill feel that this is unfair, although we'll just have to bear with this problem until Oak Grove moves into its new home.

As the picture shows, this problem is a big one. But all of us hope that the situation will soon be over.

Another disadvantage of the locker problem is the great risk which every student is taking. The students are responsible for their books, and several students knowing the combination makes it even worse.

Model U.N. Set

The Model U.N. this year has many activities for those who are active. There is the Berkeley Convention of course, but there is also an Overfelt Convention and a mock U.N. here at Hill.

A point system is being instituted this year. Points will be given for attendance, participation in fund raising events and helping with the concessions. The 10 people with the highest number of points will be allowed to go to the Berkeley Convention for three days, February 9 through 11.

We will be sending six delegates and four alternates to Overfelt for pre-convention which will show them what to expect at Berkeley.

The mock U.N. to be held here under the direction of Mr. Pete Vultee, Mr. Alfred Alexander, and Mrs. Sharon Larson, will be the first step to Berkeley. Each member will represent one country.

ASB Card Is Best Buy

Hill Students Re-Enact History

The Andrew Hill High School U.S. History classes engaged in a Spanish American War game last week, according to Mr. Russel Cline, history teacher.

Mr. Cline also stated that the purpose of the game was to produce involvement in education. It was a chance for the students to learn and talk more freely about history.

The game consisted of the President of the United States, his cabinet, the Senate, the House, and other various interest groups. Each group met daily with another group to present their argument for or against war.

This is the second year for this game, and so far it has been working well.

Students seem to enjoy taking part in something like this, but it requires plenty of participation and cooperation from everyone involved.

The Falcon frosh-soph football team is hoping for its second victory when they take on Irvington High School today at 3:30 on the Falcon gridiron.

The F-S won its first game of the season last Thursday when a made during the last 48 seconds of the game, resulting in a 7-6 victory over Newark High School.

First Try Is Shutout

Last Friday on our field, our varsity football team lost to the Ravenswood team by a score of 26 to 0. The Trojans combined luck and skill to completely dominate the game. All in all, they made four touchdowns, including one on a 70-yard punt return that opened up the second half.

Their quarterback completed seven passes for ten attempts while ours, Gallegos and Palmquist, together completed only two in 14 attempts.

The Falcons were held down to five first downs and 71 total yards gained while Ravenswood made seven plays and 193 total yards.

The Trojans also got the lucky breaks when they intercepted three times and recovered a few fumbles.

A great effort was made by Rick Crossland who made an interception, caught two passes for 19 yards and ran two kick-off returns for 72 yards.

C's, D's Both Win

Hill's C and D basketball teams started their seasons off well Thursday with two victories over Oak Grove. The C's, led by Tony Salazar, who scored twelve points, won by a score of 43-26. While the D's, with Doug Cassetta contributing 9 points won with a 31-16 score.

Today in our gym, the two teams will host Ayer. Game time is 3:30.

Hill Beats Lick - Took Eight Years

Saturday, at the Piedmont invitational held at Ayer, the varsity water polo team placed second by defeating Lick for the first time in eight years with a score of 7-6 and overtaking the Mount Pleasant squad 13-7. They were beaten only by the tough Ayer team.

Hill's good prospects this year appear to be in Tom Clark and Gary Nelson as they lead our team in scoring.

Although Ayer did win in the tournament, our squad is expected
